sponsorship prospectus!

<about hackswiflty>

hackswiflty is a student-run organization that focuses on organizing high school hackathons in order to inspire as many students in the impactful field of computer science. This year we are hoping to attract over 150 high school students to our second online hackathon, hackswiflty II. Our date for the event is not yet confirmed, however, the 24 hours that hackers are presented with are going to be filled with fun activities and memorable workshops/webinars. Don't miss out on this amazing opportunity to affect the next generation of computer science enthusiasts.

<why sponsor us>

Sponsors will have an amazing opportunity to connect and interact with our wonderfully talented participants. Your company will be able to reach out to these students to advertise your products (as well as inspire them to use your technologies). The resources you provide during the hackathon will greatly influence what the projects will look like and through what medium they are made. Additionally, recruiters may be sent over to look for potential internship candidates (if you prefer of course).

<how to help>

For hackswiflty, there are many ways you can help us out. You can donate money directly to the organization, which will give us the spending flexibility to ensure that our participants are provided with everything they need (prizes, branding, technologies). Furthermore, you can help us market our event to a larger audience in order to impact the most amount of people. You can help students out during the hackathon by sending engineers to mentor students, or by providing amenities like online hosting, certain APIs, and libraries.

<interested?>

If you are interested, please be sure to send us an email at hello@hackswiflty.org. If you have any questions regarding the sponsorship tiers, please let us know. While we do have pre-made tiers, they are highly negotiable. (just ask and our team will be more than happy to come up with a custom plan that suits your company's needs.)
